There is to many people living in the MacArthur district. The roads and resources cannot sustain any further development. Pollution is also a worrying factor to much concrete increased heat and so on. The continued development of concrete jungles is ruining our country. No such thing as a back yard anymore.
I'm sure over time the complainants of living in strata type buildings will rise dramatically. This is not living the Australian dream. This is just trying to survive until you die. I'm ashamed to be Australian.
