I am writing in regards to the Glenfield development that has been proposed. The area is in desperate need of an upgrade, especially to the roads around the area. I have lived here for 5 years and in that time alone the amount of traffic has grown significantly not to mention the number of people crowding on to trains and parking around local streets through the day.
Any future development with the roads in the area needs to have cycleways included. There is a distinct lack of cycleways in the area and the roads in the current state are unsafe for cyclists. There is major potential to link up the roads around the area and the M7 cycleway and make cycling a viable alternative to driving especially in the local area.

I agree to the above statement
