The development plan eliminates all green space that our children have been used to while growing up at Glenfield. It is an unnecessary overdevelopment rather than a required development. There's plenty of high rises being built closer to the Sydney CBD that should cater for housing demands. There is no need to change the picture of green suburban Sydney to an overcrowded congested city. Also due to Covid at least 80% of people work from home now. Then why do we additional new people to live in Glenfield which is 40 mins away from Sydney CBD? Please put the needs of your people before the needs of developers and see how you will be rewarded as a true leader.
