To whom it may concern,

I am making this submission concerning my property in

[REDACTED] which on the stage1 land use and infrastructure is in the south creek precinct, and from my understanding that south creek is the green belt of the Western Sydney Aerotropolis. Being in that zone means i can't have good future development and my property value is worthless and that is very upsetting. We feel victimised and robbed, and i am sure that all private owners in that precinct feel the same way. At the exhibition they told me that it's in the hands of the water department and future flooding is the real concern but i don't understand this, as when i first bought my property, many years ago, i made sure it's not flood affected and in a prime location. Are you telling me now after you build your Aerotropolis it will be flood affected? where is the fairness and concern about your hard working fellow Australians, who have been producing your vegetables among other things all these years i think we deserve a lot better outcome to this situation. I think Your hydro engineer and the department of planning can fix this problem without delay and i am sure there is other ways of meeting the conservation and environmental targets in the area to achieve green space without unfairly hurting property owners. Thank you
