I live in [REDACTED] and recently been overwhelmingly taken over by the future plans to become the Aerotropolis Core for Badgery Creek airport. I understand and accept that another airport is required due to the expansion and growth of our city and I am not opposed to that. What I am opposed to is the fact that we are currently Zoned RU4 now which is Primary Production small lots within Liverpool council but with the new re-zoning of Non-Urban that the government had introduced this will mean no new dwellings, changes or additions can be made to our properties. How can this be allowed? How is this even legal?

I have three kids, myself and my husband worked so hard to purchase this property to build life and a future for myself and my family. But this is being proposed non urban zoning totally devalues our land which also means we won't be able to sell. So my question is how will we be able to buy and rebuild our lives and family homes?

All we ask is that we want to be treated fairly and be on an equal playing field when it comes to compensation or selling to developers as per Aerotropolis core neighbors. We feel we are being sacrificed and our lives families are being ripped apart for this Aerotropolis to happen which is not fair and very UnAustralian.

All of this has caused me and my family severe anxiety and uncertainty. No one deserves to live like this. It is horrible to say the least. We need to know that the government will be fair with rezoning and buy the land fairly and equally as we did with our hard earned money. Most of these people have spent most of their lives breaking their backs to make buck and you feel it's okay to take it all from us just like that. I ask you how would you feel and react if you were put in your position. Since these plans come to life I have been worrying about the uncertainty of our lives if the government needs green space or non urban land we must be compensated, and be treated fairly and equally.

Hi,

I live in [REDACTED] and recently been overwhelmingly taken over by the future plans to become the Aerotropolis Core for Badgery Creek airport. I understand and accept that another airport is required due to the expansion and growth of our city and I am not opposed to that. What I am opposed to is the fact that we are currently Zoned RU4 now which is Primary Production small lots within Liverpool council but with the new re-zoning of Non-Urban that the government had introduced this will mean no new dwellings, changes or additions can be made to our properties.
