I have heard it called a 'once in a life time experience'. The Government is building an International Airport at Western Sydney and an Aerotropolis Core Mini City.

To accomplish this unprecedented event, the Government must acquire 200-300 five acre home-sites in the Kelvin Park Estate/Bringelly Area.

Progress is progress and residents must accept we have to go, but at what cost? The Government has a history of treating resident poorly when acquiring their home and land.

I have lived in Kelvin Park for 22 years. I live on five acres of well maintained land. My land has a 1/100 year line of limitation which would not be so if the creek at the back of my land (Thompson Creek) was properly maintained.

I have a factory at Liverpool, a 25 minute drive away. I expect to be compensated enough to be able to resume my life style on another five acres of land, no more than 35 minutes from my factory.

This airport will come at enormous humane cost to a lot of people. We have not been given a time frame for our land acquisition and we are afraid of being underpaid by the NSW Government.

The Aerotropolis Land purchase will cost the Government hundreds of millions of dollars and the same Government will receive thousands of millions of dollars on the land resale.

I will need the line of limitation returned and I need the Government to purchase my full 5 acres of land.

Will history show that the state Government stole our land to build the new Western Sydney Airport?
