My name is Ahmet Serifovic from [REDACTED] and I am 73 years old. I have worked hard all my life to purchase my dream property, which I finally did with my son in 2011. We spent thousands on renovations when we first moved in. Once my son married, our goal was to build another dwelling on the property. My son has spent thousands in planning and designing a second dwelling which is now all council approved, only problem is now these maps have come out. Overnight our long-life dream has now turned into a nightmare. We understand that one day we will have to move as the airport is coming but we want to be fairly compensated. We want to relive this dream in a neighbouring suburb and we don't want to be short changed in any way. My son still wants to build his home on the property but we fear it will be knocked down in the near future. If only, someone could provide us with more information or a more accurate time line to work with. So, can you please help me with that.

I am approaching the later stages of my life, I don't need this extra stress on top of everything else in life. We think about this issue every day in our family and it is taking its toll on us. We have sacrificed so much for this property. I never thought I would have to go through the moving process again in my life. I don't know how you will be determining a land value for our property but the value it has to me is priceless. I have everything I want here. When your rezoning is in planning please keep us in mind. My land here is no different to those a couple of meters across the road for me, you are welcome to come and inspect any time you like. We don't want to be treated any differently to our fellow neighbours, we just want to be treated fairly.
