I have read the 5 principles of the proposed SEPP.

Its emphasis on "flexibility" is a threat to the protections we want and need to safeguard our previous environment and green spaces so essential for optimum living standards in our crowded urban spaces.

This will enable developers and their consultants and profit to decide, override and appeal environmental decisions they feel are not in their interests.

All this makes a mockery of the 5 principles. I want higher not lower standards!

I agree to the above statement
