To whom it may concern

I have lived in Rosebery for 48 years and love the area , however due to a very minor group of people complaining about new developments should wake up and take a look around at what Meriton have done to the area with all the apartments that have gone up ,less than 50% of houses are still original and they are all starting to look very run down , people should be allowed to improve there home and move forward to increase the value of there property .

I would like to know who will compensate myself and other residence for these restrictions, considering there are already dual occupancy and 2 story houses already built.

I agree to the above statement
