Hi, as a resident of Rosebery I welcome this temporary exclusion. Rosebery is a very unique area in Sydney and the character of the town has remained only because of the single story dwellings. They are incredibly unique and the consistency of the housing keeps the area attractive and housing in demand. If exemptions are made to support high density housing, I hope they can be made without impacting the front facade of the housing, or at least keeping new build front facades in the bungalow style of the area. Thanks for reviewing
