Since moving to Pyrmont 13 years ago I have written thousands of words in response to the many, many planning proposals from the NSW Government. I am under the impression that the government is simply trying to wear the residents down into submission of whatever plans they decide are beneficial. All I can say is that whatever plans have been proposed by the government ultimately decrease the quality of life for the residents and the environment within the Pyrmont Peninsula. The sum total of all the plans is simply to overdevelop the peninsula with little thought to the consequences. I know that there have been many residents who have minutely dissected each of the planning proposals and given detailed and sensible submissions and ideas that would enhance the area but because they do not fall within the NSW government's ideas for what they want they have been ignored. It is time for the government to actually listen to the community. I therefore object most strongly to the proposals until the government decides to be reasonable and thoughtful in their approach to the Pyrmont Peninsula.
