The more I think about this re zoning of environmental the more annoyed and frustrated I become. To think that government and department of planning can come up with such an awful zoning trapping people in the zone while reducing land values and not allowing landowners to do anything on their land is disgraceful. And what is even worse is there is no plan or time frame in place for the majority of landowners in this zone as to when if ever they may be acquired. So much for department of planning, what planning??? Most landowners will be dead by the time their property becomes acquired, or maybe hat's the plan.

I agree to the above statement

Yes
